Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-3, drawn to a method of assembling a portable stand for a fire extinguisher, classified in class 29, subclass 428.
 - II. Claims 4-6, drawn to a method of storing a plurality of portable stands for a fire extinguisher, classified in class 29, subclass 416.
 - III. Claims 7-11, drawn to a method of using a portable stand for a fire extinguisher, classified in class 29, subclass 426.1.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions II and I are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions different modes of operation, different functions and different effects in that an assembled product is obtained in Invention I whereas Invention II is drawn to a disassembly process.
3. Inventions III and I are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination does not require inserting a top of a pylon upwardly through a central opening of a base until an outer flange of the pylon engages the base. The subcombination has separate utility such as manufacturing.

4. Inventions III and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because it does not require separating the pylon and the base, stacking the pylons and stacking the bases. The subcombination has separate utility such as in recycling.

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. A telephone call was made to Mr. Richard Goldstein on May 2, 2005 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
